Résumé Voir tout

Crever l'écran. Bien qu'aujourd'hui visibles à la TV, par le biais de la Formule 1, autant qu'au cinéma grâce à 007, aucune Aston-Martin ne devrait se voir limitée aux écrans. Cet ouvrage revient à l'essence même de ce qui fait de la marque une référence objective bien au-delà de l'imaginaire collectif. Il met en lumière les modèles les plus iconiques autant que d'autres, moins répandus mais pas moins désirables. Souvent riches en contexte, les images invitent au voyage et à... rouler, encore plus qu'à admirer. Le parti pris...

Repair, Restoration and Supply of Radios - 1930 to 1975

3.4.04.

[redacted]

Thank you for your enquiry regarding the HMV model 200R as fitted in your Aston Martin DB3 which I note is Positive earth.

We can fully service/overhaul this set in original all-valve LW/MW format at £200 or convert to solid-state FM/MW with internal 22 watt amplifier using only the tuner unit at £325 - separate power supply/amplifier box can be retained for originality if required. We can fit either version with an input lead for a Discman etc. - cost is £35.

I note that you have a Radiomobile 1085X which is surplus to your needs and we should be happy to offer a trade-in allowance of £25.

Return carriage via courier is £12-50 and all prices are plus VAT.

I hope this info is OK for you and I look forward to hearing from you in the near future.

Regards,

I would very much appreciate it if you would be good enough to let me have a cheque for £701 for the amount outstanding in respect of the work carried out on your Aston Martin.

As I am sure you will appreciate, a considerable amount of this work involves outside suppliers, and we have to pay their accounts when they supply the parts.

We also have the problem of trying to keep our labour rate low, and the only way we are able to do this is by being paid once a month for work done.

I look forward to receiving a cheque from you within the next few days; I do hope you understand.

Thanking you in anticipation.

Kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

Following your telephone conversation with Richard this morning I am pleased to be able to confirm that the parts now required for the Aston Martin are immediately available from stock. They are being strongly and carefully packed and are being despatched at once, as promised, and a note of the cost and incidental charges will accompany this letter. It is regretted that our attempts to save expense and speed up delivery to owner by forwarding spares with following invoices proved to be a disaster, and created a financial mess which it has never been possible to clear up. As a result we had to make a firm rule that all parcels must be despatched by the Cash on Delivery System — I am sorry if this causes any inconvenience in your own case. It is quite easy to make arrangements to collect the parcel from the issuing Post Office if there is any difficulty about delivery to the house. I have pleasure in enclosing our Invoice Number B 9914 for work carried out on your Aston up to today's date. I understand that you have seen the car and are satisfied with it.

You will notice that I have included the cost of the wiring harness at an estimated £100.00, plus the total cost of a complete exhaust system.

Unfortunately, with this type of part we cannot get credit and have to supply our cheque with the order. I would therefore very much appreciate it if you would let me have a cheque for the enclosed invoice within the next few days; we will then send off our cheque for the parts required.

Finally, we will do our best to continue with the car and get it finished for you as soon as possible- to enable you to get it painted and trimmed etc.

Kind regards,

Yours sincerely,

Nigel Bradshaw

Many thanks for your letter of 12th May, enclosing your cheque for £1150. 46.

In answer to your queries, I have credited you at the rate of 50p per hour for 67 hours on the enclosed invoice number B 9932. As far as VAT is concerned, the VAT was included in the invoice we forwarded to you.

I have done a rough estimate with Michael, and the outstanding work to complete the car will total approximately 24 hours at the rate of £7.50 per hour. This includes fitting and reassembling the front brake calipers, wiring the headlights etc. to the bonnet when fitted, and assembling various chrome parts, but not all.

The only major parts we do not seem to have charged for as yet will be the brake pistons, which we have had manufactured, but no doubt there will be one or two other small items before the job is completed.

Finally, I look forward to receiving a cheque from you for the second stage of the work as soon as possible, to enable us to complete the job.

Yours sincerely,

Nigel

May I first of all thank you for arranging to collect the Aston Martin; sorry I was out when you came yesterday.

Bevis informs me that you are a little perturbed about the final invoice; you may recall that I did go through this with you at the time of posting it to you on 13th July. However, in order to reconcile the situation, I will endeavour to clarify it to you once again.

I charged you 59 hours labour, which amounted to £472. Of this £472, approximately £200 would have been spent on fitting the bumpers, (bearing in mind that the bumpers you supplied to us had different mounting brackets to the original ones and modifications had to be made), together with various additional items listed below. Naturally, this was not included in our original quotation.

We also found that when we fitted the new rubber seals to the rear door, the window would not close correctly, and as a result we had to alter the hinge pin and reset it, to enable the rear hatchback window to close properly. We also removed for painting the windscreen and the rear window from the vehicle, in order to do the job properly, and because of the peculiar type of seal which fits the screens to the bodywork, we had to call in a specialist fitter to refit them to the car.

[redacted]

The remaining labour of 34 hours, amounting to £272, would have involved the following:

(a) the fitting of the special steering wheel which you supplied. and which involved us in re-rivetting the steering wheel boss and took approximately 3 hours. Not charged

(b) fitting new clutch master cylinder, stripping petrol pumps and rectifying petrol leaks to all other pipes and pumps (3 hours)

(c) stripping carburettors, refitting choke in the correct position, removing all dirt, sediment etc from carburettors (4 hours).

(d) setting up ignition timing and adjusting points (1½ hours).

(e) removing distributor, dismantling and repairing broken base-plate and refitting (3 hours).

(f) attempting to rectify leak on clutch master cylinder before fitting new cylinder (1½ hours)

(g) rectifying oil leaks and water leaks on engine which had been reassembled in Liverpool (this arrangement having been made by your good self); removing camshaft covers, removing radiator to remove front timing cover, removing sump, fitting new timing cover gaskets, sump gasket, camshaft gaskets and sump; fitting new seal to rev counter drive (15 hours)

(h) repairing spare wheel carrier and rewelding frame to paint it and fit it to car (3 hours).

I hope that the above breakdown will clarify the position for you. You may recall that I did go through this detail with you before, because at one stage when we found petrol in the sump, we thought you may have had a very severe crack somewhere in the engine, and at the time I remember how relieved you were that we had managed to rectify the problem without having to take the drastic step of fitting a new cylinder block.

The remainder of our July invoice, number B7973, amounts to £344.53 in respect of parts, petrol etc., of which you have a detailed list.

[redacted]

Finally, as I have stated before, we do not charge our normal retail labour rate for this kind of specialist work, and in fact in this case a number of hours in respect of road testing the car and other fiddling jobs have not been charged to you.

I do hope that this letter will reconcile the situation for you.

Yours sincerely,

Nigel

Re Aston Martin DB MK III Saloon 1958.

[redacted]

I am extremely cross regarding my order received on Saturday. Reasons as follows.

1) The Lucas Flasher unit I specifically ordered with Screw Connectors 35010. The young lady said it was in stock £5.98 * 35010 Cheap Chinese thing doesn't look even same so 35020 will fit screw connectors

2) 1 packet of fuses missing I.C. 5 AMP CFB 105 A3. to follow

3) The battery cut off switch 55B103 stated in catalogue as £53:36 charged out at £78:00!! The young lady should have informed me of such an increase Catalogue Spring 2000 so increase O.K. Please refund difference or explain same ✓

Yours Sincerely

Tom Saville.

Drive out to Banbury to fetch radiator (radiator re-cored)
Build up radiator cowling assembly to radiator, refit radiator to car Replace coolant. Clean and fit cut off switch and battery cables to car. Bleed brake system, Bleed clutch, refit gearstick.
Fabricate C section of steal`s to repair corroded areas under outer Sill panels.
Scrape off loose undergarde and oil from under side of body in Preparation for wax oil protection layer to be applied.
Clean and paint exhaust system, clean and polish rear chrome
Exhaust box`s. clean and paint sections of suspension which is Not accessible from on top.
Drive out to village post office to send back exchange shock absorbers.

Incurred Fuel cost.

As I am sure you are aware it is not always possible to have materials of such small quantities delivered, and unfortunately
Some companies do not offer a pick up and delivery service for work
That is required e.g (radiator service) on which there is no alternative but to drive to and fro to the main town as required
A fuel cost has been applied for the past few weeks pick up and delivery. I appreciate your understanding on this matter.
